April 17, 18, 19, 2010

Presented by Sharon Ellison

Based on her best selling book: Taking the War out of Our Words®

Day One (April 17): Introduction to Powerful Non-Defensive Communication™ covering the traditional "War Model" and all the skill sets in "Powerful Non-Defensive Communication (PNDC)". Format includes role-playing, mat work and discussion.

Day Two and Three (April 18 and 19): Unique opportunity to practice asking questions, giving feedback, stating opinions, beliefs, and feelings, and setting clear boundaries all of which will provide a stronger foundation for incorporating the skills into profession and personal relationships. We'll cover all 12 formats for asking questions, do active listening exercises, cover information about limit setting and so much more. The prerequisite for attendance at Days 2 and 3 is attendance at Sharon's one-day intro training. All day attendance at the May, 2009 MCPC Symposium or the 1-day seminar she did at the Forum in Toronto will qualify.

9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day. Sharon will be available in the evening for questions and discussion. Register for day one only, days two and three only, or all three days. This will be a smaller, more intensive workshop so enrollment is limited.
